

Commuter Trains May Be Halted

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co. has announced plans to seek Interstate Commerce Commission authority to discontinue operation of L and N passenger commuter trains Nos. 9 and 11 between Ocean Springs and New Orleans, Jan. 2.

L and N officials said a statement would be filed with the ICC under terms of the Federal Transportation Act of 1958, pending the steady decline in the number of passengers using the commuter trains, despite the steady growth in area population, the railroad said losses from operation of the trains in 1957 amounted to more than $70,000. The trains do not carry mail or express cargo. Public bus service will be available to commuters after the discontinuation, the railroad said.

The commuter train leaves Bay St. Louis at 7:03 a.m. and arrives at New Orleans at 9:40 a.m. Commuters will be able to ride a train which leaves Bay St. Louis at 6:18 a.m. and arrives at New Orleans at 8:25 a.m. However, company officials agreed to commuter allegations the 6:18 train could not be depended upon timewise since it is a through train and often subject to delays.

Commuters now return from New Orleans to Bay St. Louis on a train which leaves New Orleans at 5:15 p.m. and arrives at Bay St. Louis at 6:37 p.m. Another evening train between New Orleans and Bay St. Louis leaves New Orleans at 9 p.m. and arrives at Bay St. Louis at 10:24 p.m.

A through train leaves New Orleans at 5:30 p.m. and arrives at Bay St. Louis at 6:52. At present this train does not stop at Bay St. Louis, but I. W. Newman of Mobile, superintendent, and A. E.

Jackson of New Orleans, division passenger agent, said this train would be stopped at Bay St. Louis if the commuter trains were discontinued.

Railroad officials said the commuter trains carried an average of 75 passengers each morning and night, with passenger loads rising to 90 some days.

Rudolph Vorbusch, of Waveland, president of the Gulf Coast Commuters Assn., said the train always carried at least 75 passengers and that on crowded summer days the load might amount to from 110 to 160 passengers. He added that some of the passengers are school children who have no other overland way of getting to school.

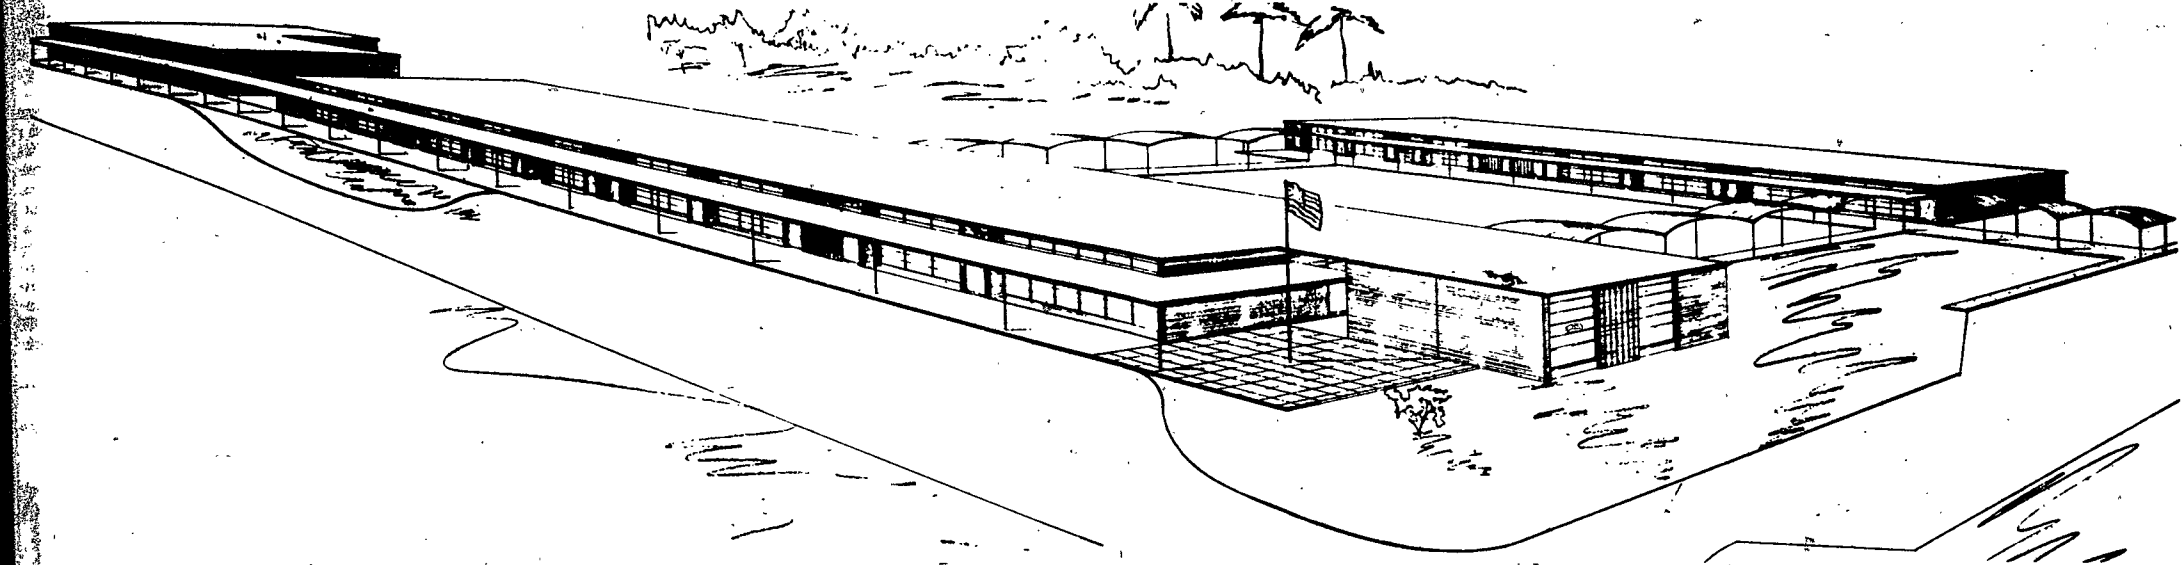

City Commissioner J. Cyril Glover noted that although bus service does exist, the buses already are overcrowded. Greyhound buses leave Bay St. Louis at 6:15, 6:25 and 6:35 a.m., arriving at New Orleans at 7:30, 7:55 and 8:15 a.m., respectively. A return bus leaves New Orleans at 5:15 p.m. and arrives at Bay St. Louis at 7:04 p.m.

Commissioner Glover said members of the Gulf Coast Municipal Officers Assn., representing nine coast cities, would meet Dec. 8 to prepare a resolution of protest and a request for a hearing on the issue.

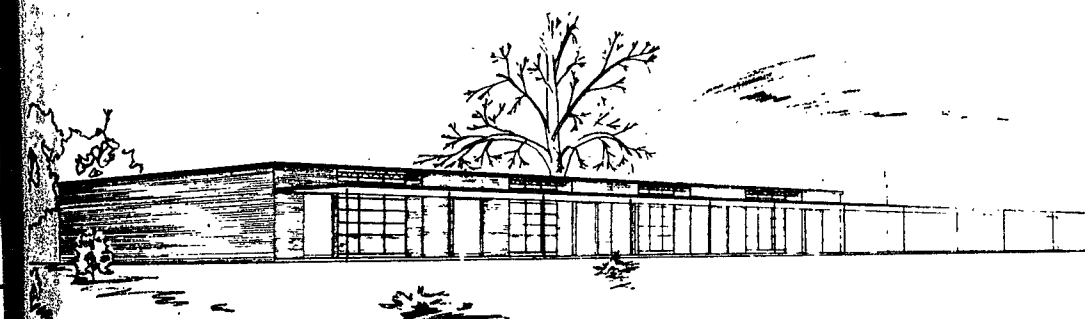

"All these cities will be affected if the trains are discontinued," Mr. Glover said, "but Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be most hard

SKETCH OF PROPOSED SCHOOL—The proposed 16-classroom, $185,000 elementary school building to be located on a 29-acre Dunbar Ave. site owned by the Bay St. Louis school system is depicted in this architect's sketch prepared by Kuykendall and Proffer, Gulfport architects and engineers. In right foreground is space for school offices. The front row of eight classrooms leads to the cafeteria (far left). Two canopies connect this section of classrooms with other section of eight classrooms (upper right). Unloading areas for school buses are adjacent to canopies to facilitate loading and unloading during inclement weather.

PROPOSED CLASSROOM ADDITION TO VALENA C. JONES SCHOOL

School Chief Explains Need for Expansion

In a special message to voters in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School System, Superintendent Joe D. McCullough urged all citizens to consider the need for the proposed school expansion which will be voted on in a special election Dec. 16.

McCullough said: "In observing the architectural plans of our proposed program, you can readily see that we have included all the facilities in planning additional building facilities: a 16-classroom school building to be located on Dunbar Ave. in Bay St. Louis, which will include a through 8; this building will relieve the crowded conditions now existing at Bay Central School. A four-room classroom addition to the Valena C. Jones School, a lunchroom addition to the Waveland School, and a lunchroom addition to the Waveland School."

"In every much needed there, we are doing our best to equalize facilities for both white and colored students and teachers in our school system. Below are the true figures for the last five years."

White	Negro
518	151
632	176
706	273
834	349
903	408
1,007	451
1,100	500

The above figures you can see that our enrollment has increased and that our facilities are becoming more crowded than doubled

Thanksgiving

Today a holiday representing true Americanism is celebrated. Thanksgiving is based on recognition of a higher being in the affairs of men. It is the result of religious freedom, something guaranteed by those putting together the Constitution of the United States after years of restrictions in their native lands.

Thanksgiving, 1958, offers sharp contrast to the first observance. Based on today's standard of living, the Pilgrims had little to be thankful for. They faced hazards that would "stamp" most men and women today.

Those attending the first Thanksgiving feast were mainly expressing thanks for their freedom. They were pleased with the idea of depending upon their individual initiative to get ahead. All they wanted was opportunity.

Thanksgiving, 1958, finds Americans still with plenty to be thankful for. But, as did the Pilgrims, citizens of today face many hazards. Some of the freedoms gained by our forefathers are being threatened. Some are being given up voluntarily by Americans as they seek "something for nothing" in the form of an all-powerful and all-providing government. Our forefathers were smart enough "economists" to know that the something-for-nothing theory wouldn't work.

A return to a stronger faith in God, greater respect for the principles and foundations upon which America has been built into the strongest nation in the world, plus hard work and self-initiative, are perhaps our greatest needs this Thanksgiving.

Polio Still Powerful

The widespread epidemic recently at Detroit served notice to a startled nation that polio has lost none of its powerful impact. The disease still strikes unpredictably and with savage force. It finds its victims among the unvaccinated.

In Michigan, during a brief few September weeks, large numbers of children and adults were stricken with polio. More than 500 cases were concentrated in the city of Detroit. There were 16 deaths.

The epidemic first hit the low income areas. Then it spread out, following its own shapeless pattern, striking without warning, hitting persons of all ages. Pre-school-age children and young adults were the principal victims. Fully half the cases were paralytic.

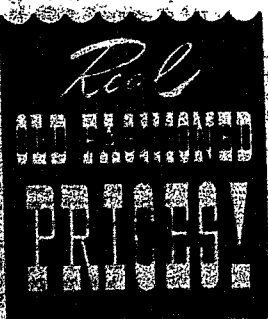

Emergency vaccination centers were opened by the health department when the National Foundation sent in 100,000 doses of vaccine to make shots available for people of all ages, and also provided needles, supplies and volunteers to staff the clinics, help parents with their children and distribute factual information to families and the entire community. People were frightened. There was a veritable stampede for Salk shots. Families, including babies and teenagers, as well as mothers and fathers, turned out by the thousandfold to get protected against paralytic polio before it was too late.

Surely there is a sober lesson to be learned here. People have been smug. They are gratefully aware that polio incidence has been relatively low. They know there is a vaccine to prevent paralytic attack. But too many seem to forget that vaccine on the druggists' shelves cannot prevent anything.

To be effective in stopping paralytic polio, vaccine must be used. Three shots properly spaced out as the doctor directs have the power to prevent polio's paralytic attack. Get them for yourself and your family while there's still time. Don't let the community be surprised by a disrupting, disastrous epidemic. There's no basis to think it can't happen here - or anywhere - unless you know that 80 per cent or more of the population has been immunized with three shots of Salk vaccine.

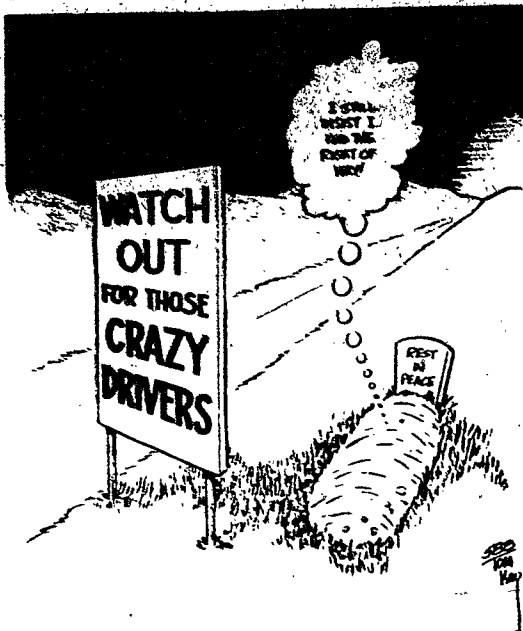

Don't take chances with polio. Take Salk shots.

Tiny Viruses Cause Many Ills From Common Colds to Polio

First of three articles on viruses, the harm they cause, what is being done about them, and even what good they may do by Dr. Henry W. Kumin, chief of virus research for the National Foundation, which in 1959 adds arthritis, virus diseases, birth defects and disorders of the central nervous system to its unfinished battle against polio.

By DR. HENRY W. KUMIN

So far as we know now, viruses are man's smallest enemies and among the most deadly. Invisible to the naked eye, and difficult to see even with the best optical microscopes, viruses have caused man sickness, pain, death and crippling since the dawn of history.

Everyone is familiar with the effects of viruses. We all have had common colds, which are due to viruses. We may know someone who has been crippled by the virus of polio. We have heard of yellow fever, hepatitis and smallpox. These are all due to viruses that attack man. There are other viruses that attack lower animals and plants. These may be serious, too, for disease can devastate a food supply as it destroys the health of a man.

We are apt to think of viruses as essentially the same from one day to another and from one year to another. But this is not so. Many viruses are constantly changing their characteristics, growing more or less harmful.

Here is a recent example. Influenza has been known for many years. Each year it causes some deaths. But after World War I something happened to the influenza virus. It became more deadly. And it killed 20 million persons in an epidemic that encircled the world.

The development of the Salk vaccine through research supported by the March of Dimes is well known. At the time the vaccine was developed, polio was an increasing disease. One year's incidence might drop from the year before, but during a period of years the disease was gradually crippling more and more persons. How far it would have gone without the vaccine no man can tell.

Thus, in studying virus diseases, scientists are not dealing with a static problem. They know that a virus disease that is rare today may become common tomorrow. They are dealing with an ebb and flow of nature that no one understands. This is why research into even rare virus diseases is necessary, for these ailments may be tomorrow's epidemics.

Furthermore, research into one virus often turns up information which may help the understanding of others. A great deal that we know about viruses, for example, has come from studies of a particular virus that causes what is known as mosaic disease of tobacco plants. Not very many persons are worried about this disease as such, but studies of the virus that causes it have contributed to the fight on polio and to efforts to control all virus disease in man.

Likewise, March of Dimes-supported work on polio has contributed to our understanding of other viruses. Techniques developed in connection with polio are now being applied to the study of mumps and measles. An experimental vaccine against viruses allied to the common cold already has been produced by government scientists, using procedures developed by Dr. Salk for the polio vaccine.

Progress is being made against viruses and it is important. Not only does it bring us closer to control of the virus diseases for which we still have no answer, but it is helping us to understand other health problems as well.

Virus disease is a major phase of the expanded program of the National Foundation. Other areas of March of Dimes activity are polio, arthritis and birth defects.

Railroad To Ask Authority To Halt Commuter Trains

hit since a heavy majority of the commuter passengers are residents of these two cities.

In 1955 the railroad obtained permission from the ICC to initiate a 20 per cent rate increase. Mr. Vorbusch said, "Announcement was made in 1957 of railroad intentions of discontinuing the train by Sept. 15, 1957.

Meetings of a coast citizens committee headed by Maurice Arduques of Bay St. Louis were held in June, July and August, 1957, to determine methods by which the railroad could feasibly maintain the commuter service.

Another rate raise was announced by the railroad Oct. 3, 1957. Losses for the previous year, from operation of the commuter train, were given as $86,000.

The Gulf Coast Commuters Assn. was reactivated Oct. 24, 1957, and Mr. Vorbusch was named president.

Jan. 9 the railroad announced discontinuation of the Saturday train, a move which John E. Tilford, president, said would save the company $18,000 yearly.

June 10, 1957, the railroad told Bay St. Louis and Waveland residents and city and county officials that the commuter train definitely would be discontinued unless suggestions could be given to put it on a profit basis.

Under the terms of this year's Federal Transportation act, approval of discontinuance of the train must be granted directly by the Interstate Commerce Commission without action of the Mississippi or Louisiana Public Service Commissions. Therefore, Mr. Glover said, the protest resolution will be filed with the ICC.

At a meeting between railroad officials and local citizens June 10, 1957, W. G. Whitsett, assistant to the president of the railroad, admitted the company had made a net profit of $25,000,000 in 1956.

Questioned about the railroad's claim to $70,000 loss in operation of the commuter train, Mr. Vorbusch said, "I have constantly challenged this. They have refused to make figures available to me."

Explaining that railroad accounting was done differently from any other kind of accounting, Mr. Vorbusch said, "The figures I have seen do not truly reflect the costs of operating trains 9 and 12, I say they cannot prove the losses they allege."

Reviewing a meeting Oct. 17, 1957, at Birmingham, Ala., between railroad officials and Gulf Coast citizens, Mr. Vorbusch said, "At that meeting Mr. Tilford agreed to continue operation of the train, on the basis of 'out of pocket' costs, which include crew wages, New Orleans Union Passenger Terminal charges and maintenance of equipment."

ate Leads In Planting Of Seedlings

Mississippi continues to lead in tree planting with 33,034 acres planted under the agricultural conservation program, J. R. Flautt, chairman of the Mississippi Agricultural Conservation Commission, reports. Mississippi has led the nation in tree planting since 1953, with Louisiana being second in 1956 and 1957 and Georgia being second in 1954 and 1955.

For planting the 33,034 acres of trees, Mississippi farmers were paid $240,290 under the agricultural conservation program with an average assistance of $7.27 an acre. Mr. Flautt stresses that most of the trees planted with assistance through the ACP were planted on land that would not produce any other crop. He also emphasizes that trees planted on land that is not good enough to grow crops will bring considerable income to the owner of the land as well as conserve soil and water. On steep and eroded land, trees will help slow down runoff of water from the land and increase infiltration into the ground, thus reducing erosion.

In Mississippi assistance again is available to farmers to plant trees this winter, and for the first time in several years, tree seedlings are plentiful. C. B. Marlin, state forester, Mississippi Forestry Commission, said.

Both Mr. Flautt and Mr. Marlin encourage each farmer who has some land on his farm that now produces little or nothing to use the assistance available through the agricultural conservation program for the planting of trees. Farmers are reminded that the Mississippi Forestry Commission has extended the final date for filing requests for tree seedlings until the supply is exhausted. Mr. Marlin says applications for tree seedlings may be filed with the county agent, the SCS technician, vocational agriculture teachers or area foresters.

In most counties in Mississippi, where an average of 1,000 trees are planted to an acre, the payment rate for trees planted this winter under the agricultural conservation program is $9 an acre if the seedlings are planted by hand.

Farmers who desire ACP assistance for planting trees are advised to visit the ASC county office in the Agricultural Building and file a request for assistance at the time a request for trees is executed. Mr. Flautt says a request for assistance must be filed before the trees are planted and that no assistance can be approved for requests filed after the trees already have been planted.

A breakdown of indicators in Bay St. Louis between September and August shows bank debits up 28 per cent, money orders issued down 10 per cent, postal receipts down 25 per cent, telephone service down 1 per cent and city sales tax collections up 1 per cent.

General business activity in the entire Biloxi-Gulfport area was 245 per cent of the 1947-1949 average, compared with 229 per cent in August, 1958, and 216 per cent in September, 1957.

Mississippi Power Has Role In Atomic Electricity Program

J. L. Watson, Jr., president of Mississippi Power Co., has announced that the company has joined with more than 50 other investor-owned utility companies, representing all sections of the United States, to support the development and prototype construction of a high performance nuclear power plant which will provide a major short cut to the nation's goal of economic electricity from the atom.

Acreage Allotments On Cotton Being Set

Acreage allotments for the 1959 upland cotton crop are now being established for all eligible farms in Hancock County, Fla. Hugh Lee, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, has announced. Each cotton farmer will be notified by mail of the two acreage allotments applicable to his farm before the Dec. 15 marketing quota referendum.

Mr. Lee explains that this year two allotments will be established for each farm — Choice (A) and Choice (B). If marketing quotas are in effect, the farm operator may elect to comply with the "regular" — Choice (A) — farm allotment and be eligible for price support at the full level available for the crop — not less than 80 per cent of parity in 1959. Or he may elect and comply with the Choice (B) allotment — which is 40 per cent larger than under Choice (A) and be eligible for price support at a lower level — 15 per cent of parity less the support under Choice (A). If quotas are not in effect, only the "regular" allotments will be available, and price support on the crop will be at 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law.

A proposal was submitted to the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington by the Philadelphia Electric Co. and member companies of the newly-organized High Temperature Reactor Development Associates, offering to develop and construct a high temperature, gas-cooled, graphite moderated nuclear power plant.

Mr. Watson said, "The prototype plant which the utility companies propose to build has a design capacity of 40,000 kilowatts, is the high temperature, gas-cooled (helium) graphite-moderated reactor system and was conceived by the General Atomic Division of General Dynamics Corp. The system has been under intensive theoretical and experimental development with private funds at General Atomic's laboratory during the last two years."

The proposed plant would be built and operated on the system of the Philadelphia Electric Co. Actual site for the plant, which is scheduled for completion in five years, has not been announced.

The HTRDA is a non-profit organization incorporated for the general purpose of nuclear energy research and development. The companies comprising its membership are located in states from New York to California, as well as Hawaii. It is the largest and most widely representative group of U. S. private utility companies to support a single nuclear power project so far.

In announcing the role of Mississippi Power Co. in the proposed project, Mr. Watson said, "Our company is vitally interested in the peaceful application of producing electricity from the atom. For several years Mississippi Power Co. has been actively participating with other companies in the actual construction of an experimental fast breeder atomic reactor known as the Enrico Fermi Power Plant now being completed at Lehigh Beach, Mich. This atomic plant is being built by the Power Reactor Development Co. under the AEC reactor demonstration program. All of the companies of The Southern Company system which comprises the Alabama, Georgia, Gulf and Mississippi Power Companies are assisting in this program and are affiliated with the High Temperature Reactor Development Associates as well. Our company will benefit greatly in the future from the knowledge and experience gained in the design, construction and operation of these plants."

The new plant is designed to produce 40,000 kilowatts of electricity from steam at 1,000 degrees and 1,450 pounds pressure a square inch, using the graphite-canned fuel elements. The proposal submitted to AEC states that the proposed plant is fully adequate in size and design to demonstrate and evaluate the technological and economic features of this concept and to enable larger commercial type units to be built without additional or intermediate scale prototypes. The fuel size and core configuration are such that extension to larger plants is simple and direct. For this reason, the sponsors feel that the development and construction of this plant will provide a short cut to the goal of economic nuclear power.

THEN AND NOW--Sixty one years separate these pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Wyman of 111 State St., shown (below) celebrating their 61st wedding anniversary Sunday and (above) in pictures taken in 1897, the year they were married. Mrs. Wyman, who was 17 when the couple was married, tells of a harrowing trip from New Orleans, across the Mississippi River to Franklin, La., where she was married to Mr. Wyman, then director of a traveling melodrama theater. Running away from parents who disapproved of a theatrical marriage, she crossed through yellow fever quarantine lines, dealt with uncooperative railroad personnel and spent a night sitting in a railroad station before she was reunited with her fiancé. The couple celebrated the anniversary Sunday with a quiet dinner for relatives and friends. Unable to be present were their daughter, Mrs. A. J. Kloven, and grandson, Jan, of San Diego, Calif.

The More Abundant Life

Open Letter To Mississippians

The Superintendent of Documents in Washington, D. C., has published a booklet listing 1,800 communities within the United States that have available for sale or lease complete facilities for new industries, many offering financial aid as well as the support of organized groups. Factories vacate or abandon sites for many reasons.

Never before has there been keener competition among towns and cities for added payrolls to boost their local economies. State and local development agencies in the United States spent $40 million last year in an effort to attract new industries. The pressure is so pronounced that in some residential areas near congested centers there are organizations protesting this intensified industrial development which residents strove to escape by building suburban homes.

Restless Americans are definitely on the move - north, south, east and west. It is estimated that ten million of them move annually to some other state.

So the country undergoes many changes, as men and women migrate to more promising locations. The South can eventually attract the lion's share of these homeseekers and industrial establishments and perhaps regain the economic and financial leadership that it held a century ago but lost with the Civil War and Reconstruction.

We should be on the alert to profit from this great migration, to meet face to face the challenges and opportunities that these changing times present, fully realizing that industry and business seek among other things: nearness to markets and raw materials; transportation facilities; ample man and woman power; adequate utilities to provide energy; pleasant living conditions with good schools, churches and recreational advantages; fair taxation and law enforcement; civic consciousness and whole-hearted community support.

All these are essential, but industry also seeks a citizenship sympathetic with its problems in harmonious surroundings. Free enterprise thrives only where there is a good business climate, and men and women are dedicated to the American Way and have faith in its superiority over all other economical and political systems. We cannot endure to prosper half free.

The industrial revival in the South is now in full swing, so these are promising days for Mississippi. Electrified, enlightened and pulling together, its people are on their way to the more abundant life.

Wedding

Kersanac-Larroux

White gladioli and chrysanthemums interspersed with greenery formed a beautiful setting as Miss Dorothy Jan Larroux exchanged her wedding vows with Joseph John Kersanac during a nuptial mass in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile P. Larroux. Mr. Kersanac is the son of Mr. Joseph Kersanac and the late Mr. Kersanac.

The Rev. Adrian Mercier performed the double ring rites in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

Prof. Joseph Hemmersbach, organist of the church, played appropriate wedding music and accompanied Paul Cotton who sang "Ave Maria," "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy" and "Panis Angelicus." Traditional nuptial marches were played as the wedding party entered and left the church.

The pretty brunette bride was escorted to the altar by her father and was radiant in a Marie of Pandora original wedding gown of winter white peau de soie faille. The softly rounded neckline of the dress and the bodice were embellished with seed pearls and iridescent Ceylon beads.

The skirt fell to the floor in full unpressed pleats and ended in a chapel length train in the back. Appliques of Alencon lace sprinkled with seed pearls and Ceylon beads were sprinkled on the train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a tiara fashioned of seed pearls and beads and was trimmed at the focal point with lilies of the valley and white phalaenopsis orchids. She carried a cascading bouquet of white winter blossoms centered with a white orchid.

Miss Elodie Brechtel of Waveland was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Kinta Kergosien of Bay St. Louis, Alice Roth of New Orleans and Lois Pravata of Slidell, La.

Their intermission length gowns of electric blue silk taffeta were fashioned with tightly fitted bodices having rounded necklines and elbow length sleeves. Large flat bows of the material of the dresses added interest to the back of the skirts. They wore matching veils attached to tiny hats made of bows of blue taffeta, matching blue satin slippers and carried large bouquets of feathered white chrysanthemums.

Gerald Gex of Bay St. Louis served as best man and groomsmen were Robert Stanger of Chicago, Ill.; Freddie Cabell and Milton Cuevas, both of Bay St. Louis.

Acting as ushers were William Scarborough of Bay St. Louis and Peter Pelham of Dyersburg, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Larroux entertained at a large reception in Bay Waveland Yacht Club honoring the young couple immediately after the religious rites. The main lounge of the club was adorned with arrangements of white flowers and greenery.

Centering the mantel was a large silver bowl filled with white carnations and greenery. Two tall silver candelabra stood on either side of this arrangement.

Mrs. Larroux selected for her daughter's wedding a silk afternoon model with a winter gray background printed with tangerine and brown flowers. Her small hat was tangerine velvet.

and the most beautiful accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's boutonniere chose a spray of bright blue and white carnations and greenery. His coat was accented with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

An heirloom cloth of imported white lace covered the bride's table which was centered with the large three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was trimmed with white and silver roses and was topped with a fresh miniature of the bride and groom.

A crystal punch bowl was in the center of the punch table which was covered with a white linen cloth. Encircling the bowl were garlands of greenery.

Later in the day the Mr. and Mrs. Kersanac left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination. For traveling, the bride selected a brown and grey check woolen suit, brown lizard shoes and purse, beige hat and gloves and wore the orchid from her bouquet.

Upon their return, they will be at home at 316 deMoulin Ave.

Mrs. Kersanac is a graduate of St. Joseph's Academy and Mississippi Southern College at Hattiesburg where she was a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha social sorority. She is a member of the faculty of St. Joseph's Academy.

The bridegroom was graduated from St. Stanislaus College and Mississippi Southern. There he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is affiliated with Winn-Dixie food store of Bay St. Louis as produce manager.

Crash Injuries Kill Mel Ott

chest surgery and operations on her arms, legs and hip. She has not been told of her husband's death.

Mr. Ott's survivors, besides his wife, include two daughters, Mrs. Philip Loria and Miss Barbara Ott; his mother, Mrs. Charles Ott of Gretna; a brother, Charles Ott of Harvey; a sister, Mrs. Louis Rhodes of Gretna, and a grandson.

The Ott's had been at Bay St. Louis Nov. 14 to inspect a recently purchased summer cottage. They were well known to many Bay St. Louis residents because of Mr. Ott's involvement as promoter of an "airesort" real estate subdivision near Hancock County Airport, A. G. Damagnum, realtor, was working with Mr. Ott on the project.

The record holding baseball player moved straight from the New Orleans high school leagues to the New York Giants when hired by John McGraw at 16. A native of Gretna, he was a star from the first time he stepped to the plate at 17.

In 1926, his first year of play, he played 35 games and hit a thrilling .383. Before he stepped playing to become full time manager of the Giants in 1947 Mr. Ott had hit a league record of 511 home runs.

Other records include 1,859 runs scored and 1,860 batted in. He took 1,708 bases on balls and played on 11 all-star teams. Leading the National League in homers in 1936, 1938 and 1942, he retired with a life-time batting average of .304.

He played in a total of 2,730 games. His playing in the 1933 World Series received most of the credit for taking the series for the Giants.

In 1942 he became player-manager of the only team he ever played with. When he retired at 38 in 1947 his knees were giving him trouble and he called in sports writers to say he was removing his name from the active player list to make room for up and coming rookies.

Hailed as a champ, both on and off the diamond, Mr. Ott helped in the Giants' farm system between 1948 and 1950 and managed the Oakland Pacific Coast League team in 1951 and 1952.

After retiring from the game in January, 1953, Mr. Ott went into the building construction business at New Orleans.

In February this year he announced plans to develop the "airesort" here. Mr. Damagnum said plans for the development are proceeding.

Frank Ellis, father of the Ellis youth. Although they did not find the youths they did find an entrance to the Ellis garage made by a hole dug from the side of the garage underneath the garage. There was evidence the youths were living in the garage.

The officers then employed Moonsheds, handled by T. E. Middleman and Marion Parker, to search the woods in back of Ellis' home. However, black pepper sprinkled along the youths' trail by Napier threw the dogs off their scent.

Patrolman Garcia then received a report that the Ellis youth was in the Nelson home and he was captured there. The Napier boy was found after a tip received by Chief Sanchez. Sheriff Ladner said the two escapees had been hiding at Bay St. Louis for three to four days.

Sheriff Ladner reported that $200 worth of fireworks and a small quantity of cigarettes stolen Nov. 12 from Louise's Prairie Shop on US-90 were recovered after FBI agents captured two juveniles, Bruce Emile Walter and Michael Angelo Seva, Nov. 18 at Hialeah, Fla.

The youths stole a 1952 Chevrolet Nov. 10 at Montgomery, Ala., and drove to New Orleans. From New Orleans they drove to Bay St. Louis.
